FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR NO. 24.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1931.

LOCAL SCOUTS WIN HONORS IN XENIA CAMP

Two hundred boys scouts, representing 16 troops in six cities and towns in the Xenia area, were in camp last Friday night and Saturday in Shawnee Park, Xenia.

The tented tents of scouts represented 75 pup tents that sheltered the boys under the leadership of H. S. Goodrich of Springfield, assisted by scoutmasters and leaders. The final council camp was Saturday night when a council camp fire was held. Inspection was conducted by W. G. Benson of Springfield and the personal inspection by Capt. H. L. Hays, superintendent and Lieut. Perry Swindler, military instructor at the O. S. & S. O. Home.

Troop 15, M. E. church, Springfield, took first place with 74 per cent. Four of Greene county Scout Troops entered were among the winners having an average of fifty per cent or better.

Troop 64, Fairfield, sponsored by the American Legion, won second and received the blue ribbon. Troop 62 of the O. S. & S. O. Home was third in the blue ribbon class.

Troop 41 sponsored by Xenia Rotary Club, Troop 68, Cedarville, sponsored by the Community Club, organized last October and Troop 1 Springfield, were winners in the Red ribbon class.

Troop 51, Rushsylvania, Logan county, won the white banner in third class. Others were Troop 50, Rosewood and 3 of Springfield.

The local troop is being congratulated for its work for it was one of the youngest organizations in the camp. The boys were under the direction of Ward Creswell and Robert Wilson.

State Office Building Program Censured By Investigators

The committee from the Ohio Senate has filed its report on investigation of the new office building that was started under former Governor Myers J. Cooper. The building was to cost about six million dollars but the commission having in charge the building has now spent about $1,000,000 more is needed to pay for the site. In addition no plans have been made for heating or lighting the structure and $500,000 is necessary to complete the work.

The investigation committee is somewhat critical of the commission in the manner the business has been conducted. It is discovered the building is not large enough for the future needs of the state and that the committee's first act was to make it ornate rather than useful.

The committee also criticized the use of Georgia marble when Ohio sandstone could have been used at a greatly reduced cost. The hiring of a Cincinnati architect who has a place in the political organization that fostered the building is to get a fee of $240,000 with two other architects to be paid $200,000 each. Such fees were criticized by the committee.

For months reports have been in circulation as to the manner in which the state was compelled to pay excessive prices for land for the building site. Real estate operators and politicians held options on much of the land. The complaint is that the original owners have received a small per cent of the price paid by the state and the difference provided prosperity for the politicians and favored speculators. The investigation committee in its report go no further than state no reasons were found as to why the commission was prompted to select the present site.

The membership of the committee conducting the investigation is composed of three Republicans and three Democrats.

The report was a decidedly black eye to the Cooper business administration. The building is referred to in Columbus as "Cooper's Folly."

It was only a few weeks ago that Attorney General Bettman, who handled the legal work in securing the site gave out a public statement as to how much money his department had saved Ohio taxpayers. The investigation now reveals the committee was broke then and is now asking for more money.

SCHOOL NEWS

LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS WIN STATE SCHOLARSHIP HONORS

Six students of the local high school won distinction at the presentation of the awards of the State Scholarship contest, made at Columbus, May 16. The six who won places of honors are: Mary Margaret Mac Millan—first place in English II; Ruth Kimble—third place in English II; Wandell Murphy—third place in English; Christina Jones—honorable mention in English; Carma Hostetler—tenth place in English III; Justin Hartman—one of those in the upper one per cent of the 55,000 pupils who took the eighth grade test in the state.

When it is considered that this contest included all the county high schools in the state, the above rating speaks well for these students in this work. The first five took part in the general scholarship contest. All of them won either first or second place in the elimination contest held in the county, thus gaining the right to enter another contest held in Columbus, May 2. At that time they competed against students from seventeen counties in the central district of Ohio. All five again won places of honor. The grades of these students of the Ohio State University district test were then compared with those of the pupils of the five districts into which the state was divided for the test. By this comparison, the best students for each subject in the state were determined. In the rating thus made, the Cedarville students ranked as given above.

Mary Margaret Mac Millan won still greater distinction since she ranked not only first in tenth year English in the county high schools but also first in tenth year English regardless of classification of schools. This means that when the papers of the hundreds of students taking the tenth year English test, whether of city, exempted village, private or county schools, were compared, Miss MacMillan's papers ranked the first in the state.

In addition to Justin Hartman, who won first place in the county on the eighth grade test and who was in the upper one per cent of the state, Jane Frame was granted a certificate for high school honors in the Miami University District on the same test.

In the general scholarship contest, the Greene County team, of which the Cedarville winners formed a part, won seventh place in the state. Other members of the team, who won state honors are: Evelyn Bonham, Spring Valley; honorable mention in general science and Roberta Shaw, Yellow Springs, honorable mention in Latin II.

The local winners attended the presentation program held in Central High School auditorium, Columbus, May 16. Among the speakers for the occasion were J. L. Clifton, Director of Education; E. R. Wood, Chairman of the Scholarship contest, and other well-known educators of the State of Ohio.

After the program, the winners were the guests of Mrs. Hazel Edwards and Supt. H. D. Furst for dinner at the Chittenden Hotel Dining Room. During the afternoon, the pupils visited places of interest and took a trip to the top of the A. I. U. over.

Among those who accompanied the winners to Columbus were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Murphy, Mrs. Clayton Mac Millan, Miss Lenora Skinnell, Supt. H. D. Furst, Misses Harriet Ritenour and Janice Dunevant, who won honors in the district tests and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edwards.

MOTORISTS ARE NOW PAYING ENOUGH

With the investigation of the highway department, a former administration, and the present which has had a duration of only a few months, the average motorist on the face of developments, should conclude that both license tags and gasoline tax are producing more money than is necessary for road upkeep and improvement. It has just come to light through the investigation that money from gasoline taxes has been used to fit up very expensive quarters at Sidney for certain division road officials. Marble stairs, draperies costing about $1,000, oil paintings of the officials on the walls, expensive gasoline heating plant, as well as other expensive appointments, is the story of how the motorists' money has been squandered.

For months stories have been in circulation as to certain lumber deals in the highway department and how the leading lumber dealers would not even submit bids, after knowing how things were manipulated. Quality seems to have been the last thing necessary to get an order according to Findley M. Torrence, Xenia, Secretary of the Ohio Retail Lumber Dealers Association. Stories how one small town automobile tire dealer was able to outbid the big manufacturers in Akron have been in circulation for months. The order amounted to many thousands of dollars and standard made tires were specified. The manufacturer failed to get the order but the small dealer secured the contract and had to place his order for tires with the manufacturer that had been underbid. The solution is that the tire dealer had to charge the department for two tires and deliver one.

Materials for road building had certain specifications that permitted only favored manufacturers or agents to bid. The motorist has been the victim of crooked dealing in road building and already enough millions have been collected in gasoline tax to pave with good material every important road in the state.

The legislature now proposes to about double the cost of license tags to get more money. Isn't it about time to call a halt on the manner of public spending? How many citizens in Greene county have laid before a member of the legislature his or her personal view on the tax problem now up for consideration? How many have given expression to your representative or senator that the tax bill now in formation should carry a referendum clause? If you have not so informed your representative and senator, or the joint tax committee, you can have no complaint, if something is put over you do not like.

Announcement that the "Three C" highway is to be closed for several months should mean more traffic over route 42 between Cincinnati and Columbus and Cleveland. This will give Cedarville garages, oil stations and restaurants an opportunity of more patronage during the summer from tourist traffic. The road which is usually subject to heavy travel will be closed at Melvin, Sabina, Madison Mills and Grove City. This will be welcome news in this vicinity.

The Art Grange Section of the Sunday Enquirer contains a picture of notables at a banquet the newest hotel in Cincinnati, the Netherland Plaza. The banquet was in honor of Governor Sampson of Kentucky who presented Joseph Reich, president of the hotel, an honorary colonel on the Governor's staff. Among the notables including prominent public officials, Cincinnati merchants and others was United States Marshal Paul H. Creswell, formerly of this place. The U. S. Marshal looked quite "at home" in his "soup and fish".

A new law has gone into effect of interest to fishers and conservation officers are warning sportsmen that it must be observed. The limit on crappies has been reduced to 25 per day. The size limit is six inches. No more than two days catch is permitted to be in the angler's possession without violation of the law. The limit on black bass is now 12 a day and the size has been reduced to 11 inches. It is expected the law will greatly increase the supply of fish in Ohio waters.

A news dispatch says that farmers throughout the middle west are plowing up their fields of winter wheat rather than go with a losing venture. It is held the price of wheat cannot be much above fifty cents a bushel and some say that Texas wheat cannot be contracted now for more than forty cents a bushel. Farmers plowing up their wheat will plant corn and this vast acreage going into corn means an unusual crop if conditions are at all favorable. This will bring down the price of corn to low levels. What to plant on farm acreage for a fair return is a problem no one is now able to solve. How to get orders for more business is bothering manufacturers. How to get a job is what the laborer faces. How to return business conditions to a normal state over the world is what we all want to know.

Times may be hard and money is tight but from the crowd of people at the air show at Fairfield Sunday one could not help but think conditions were at least normal. The crowd was estimated at 200,000 and it was lined on the hillsides, on the pikes and all points of advantage for sight seeing for many miles. It is estimated that forty thousand automobiles, many of them from distant states, were parked between Dayton and Fairfield. If you allow each machine five gallons of gasoline for an average, it cost the motorists $68,000 for fuel to say nothing for oil and tires.

The air exhibit brought about numerous comments in the big crowd as why it was held. Of course the government staged the show as a training for pilots. There were many war fighting planes and peace advocates could not see the idea of spending so much money that way. The manufacturers of air craft could sanction the exhibit as a means of stimulating public confidence in air travel. It remained for one spectator to express himself that the whole air show was a Standard Oil Company war. This no doubt came from the fact that this company had fifty big tank trucks busy hauling gasoline for use in the planes. During the exhibit there were more than 13,000 gallons of gasoline used each day. If that amount is correct it is safe to say that Uncle Sam did not pay the consumers price of 17 cents a gallon.

The farmer should take encouragement from reading the head lines on the financial pages. The farmer has his troubles with low markets for selling his crops and live stock but take a look at some of the headlines in Monday's papers: "U. S. Steel drops to $90 a share, the lowest since 1924." "Curb Stocks Weaker." "Chain Store Sales from 61 systems drop 56 million dollars in four months." "Chain Store Stocks drop following Supreme Court decision." Such news as the above headlines indicate gives almost every line of business more trouble. With the drop in the stock market goes many millions in dollars to holders of stock. Having stock of commercial companies or manufacturing concerns on a down market is like having fat cattle in the feed lot with price dropping. The "readjustment" is now reaching more than the farmers—every business, even the bootlegger, finds sales slowing up.

We attended a joint meeting of the Ohio House and Senate Tuesday during the hearing on the proposed new classification tax bill now up for consideration. Various speakers representing different interests were on the program. It was a case of each side trying to protect its particular interests. One speaker stated that little could be expected in the way of relief for home and farm owners due to the depression but with normal times things might be different. The boast during the classification campaign was that uncovered wealth could be recovered to provide enough revenue for all taxing districts. We were much surprised to learn when admission was made from the floor that holders of stock in corporations out of the state could not be taxed.

There was discussion over insurance annuities that will be subject to tax under the new bill and representatives of insurance companies were on hand to guard the interest of policy holders. More than once different members of the legislature tried to bring out that C. A. Dyer, legislative agent for the Ohio Farm Bureau and Ohio Grange, had been paid $2,500 for his services in behalf of the Classification amendment. It was admitted he was allowed "expense" money, and smiles and tee-hees went around the assembly hall.

Two different bills have been introduced providing for income taxes. One speaker read a section of the last Democratic platform which declared against a state income tax law. A part of Governor White's campaign speech against such a law and his message to the legislature opposing such a tax was read. The Republican platform was read covering that subject but it only mentioned taxing intangible property. Gov. White has stated more than once that he was opposed to a state income tax.

One of the bills provides for income taxes graduated from the first $2,000 at one per cent to 5 per cent on all over $8,000. Exemptions would be single persons, $1,000 and married $2,500 with $700 each for minors. The second bill would tax incomes starting at $2,000 at one per cent up to five per cent over $5,000. Exemptions would be $750 for single persons and $1,500 for married with $200 for each minor. Wages, trades, professions and business would be taxed on rates above stated. This proposal is said to be backed by rural interests but there will be few farmers but what will be caught for the reason the average farm family cannot be maintained now under the minimum. There will be no deductions such as has been in force under the Federal income tax law. It is safe to predict that Gov. White will veto any income tax law passed.

Lesson for May 24

JESUS PREPARING FOR THE END

GOLDEN TEXT—And he took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, saying, This is my body which is given for you; this do in remembrance of me.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 22:7-30.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Wants Us to Remember Him.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How We Can Remember Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Meaning of the Lord's Supper.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Meaning of the Lord's Supper.

I. The Last Passover (vv. 7-13).

1. The Passover prepared (v. 7-13).
a. Peter and John sent to prepare the Passover (v. 8). As the time had arrived for the killing of the Passover, Jesus commanded these disciples to make ready for it.

b. The disciples' inquiry (v. 9). They inquired of Jesus as to where they should prepare the Passover. The true disciple is not only ready to do the Lord's bidding, but anxious to know exactly his will.

c. The Master's strange directions (vv. 10-13). They were to go into the city where they would meet a man bearing a pitcher of water. The usual custom was for the women to carry the water. This unusual occurrence would make it easier for them to find the man. He assured them that they would then be shown a large upper room furnished.

d. The obedience of the disciples (v. 13). They did as Jesus directed them. They did not stop to question the sanity of the command but, as true disciples, obeyed.

2. The Passover eaten (vv. 14-18).
a. By whom (v. 14). Those who sat down to this last Passover Feast were the Master and the twelve apostles.

b. Jesus' words unto the disciples (vv. 15-18).
(1) "I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer" (v. 15). He greatly desired to share with them the meaning of the passion through which he was to go.

(2) "I will not any more eat thereof until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God" (v. 16). His death was the antitypical fulfillment of the Passover.

(3) "Take this cup and divide it among yourselves" (v. 17, 18). By the token of the cup the disciples were partaking of his shed blood. Drinking anew in the kingdom of God does not mean that in heaven this service will be renewed, but that it was symbolic of the heavenly reality.

II. The Feast of the New Covenant Instituted (vv. 19, 20).

This feast took place at the close of the paschal supper.
1. The bread a symbol of Christ's body (v. 19). As bread nourishes and strengthens our bodies, so Christ is food to our spiritual nature. Unless our souls feed upon Christ, we shall perish.

2. The cup a symbol of Christ's blood (v. 20). This was symbolic of the atonement which was made by the shedding of his blood on Calvary's cross. He said, "This cup is the new testament in my blood which was shed for you," indicating that each one must personally accept the atonement made by the shedding of his blood.

III. The Wicked Behavior at the Feast (vv. 21-27).

1. The treachery of Judas (vv. 21-23).
a. The time of its manifestation (v. 21). It was while they were eating the last Passover that Jesus made the announcement of the betrayal, perhaps that Judas might be given an opportunity at this last moment to repent.

b. The betrayal was by the determined counsel of God (v. 22 Cf. Acts 2:23). Nothing takes place by chance. Even the sinful acts of wicked men Wanted:—Young calf for veal purposes.

W. H. Creswell

of God. This does not, however, lessen the guilt of sinners, for Jesus said, "Woe unto the man by whom he is betrayed."

c. The sorrowful question (v. 23). The disciples did not seem to suspect one another but made the question a personal one.

2. The selfish ambition of the disciples (vv. 24-27). In this tragic hour the disciples were so concerned with the thought of position that they were striving among themselves as to who should be the greatest.

IV. The Apostles' Place in the Kingdom (vv. 28-30).
Jesus assured them that those who continued with him in his trials would be appointed a place in the Kingdom, which would entitle them to sit and drink at his table and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

In the Redeemer's Debt
For us, who are deep in the Redeemer's debt, who have had much forgiveness, who every day are bankrupt debtors to the measureless mercy of infinite love—for us no paltriness will suffice.—C. H. Spurgeon.

Great Things From God
We should expect great things from God. He is a great God; he is in the habit of doing great things. Let us expect the great things and we shall have them.—John R. Mott.
